DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

1. Claims 1-19 are pending in this application.
2. Claim 9 is allowed over prior art of record.
3. Claims 1-8 and 10-19 are rejected.
4. THIS OFFICE ACTION IS MADE FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1,4-8,10-15 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Masaki (4,280,471).

Masaki discloses an exhaust gas recirculation valve comprising: an exhaust passage tube (154,158,162); a valve element (162) pivotally mounted within the exhaust passage tube; a linear actuator (168): and a gear train including a rack gear (166) operatively connected to the linear actuator, the rack gear adapted to move in a substantially linear direction upon activation of the linear actuator, and at least one rotatable gear (col. 11, ll. 29-30) meshing with the rack gear and operatively connected to the valve element (162) to cause rotation of the valve element upon actuation of the linear actuator.

With regard to claim 4, the rack gear includes teeth disposed on a rod directly driven by the linear actuator (anticipates a movable rack similar to 84).

With regard to claim 12, the gear train includes a plurality of rotatable gears (see figure 1).

With regard to claim 13, the rack gear is disposed along at least a portion of the length of the actuator rod (see figure 1).

With regard to claim 14, an exhaust gas recirculation valve comprising: an exhaust passage tube (154,158,160) having a first axis; a valve element (162) pivotally mounted within the exhaust passage tube; an apparatus (168) adapted for linear movement along a second axis substantially parallel to the first axis (see figure 2), the apparatus adapted for linear movement along the second axis adapted to be selectively activated; an actuator rod directly driven by the apparatus adapted for linear movement along the second axis, the actuator rod adapted to move in a substantially linear direction upon activation of the apparatus adapted for linear movement along the second axis; and a gear train (166) including a rack gear, disposed along at least a portion of the length of the actuator rod, and at least one rotatable gear meshing with the rack gear, the rotatable gear being operatively connected to the valve element (162) and adapted to cause rotation of the valve element upon actuation of the apparatus adapted for linear movement along the second axis.

With regard to claim 18, a method of actuating an exhaust gas recirculation valve, the method comprising the steps of: energizing a linear actuator (168); moving a rack gear operatively connected to the linear actuator; and rotating at least one rotatable gear operatively connected with a valve element (162) to thereby rotate the valve element, see figures 1 and 2.

With regard to claims 5-8,10,11,15 and 16, see figure 1 for adjustable stop mechanism and return spring.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 2,3,16,17 and 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Masaki (4,280,471).

Masaki disclosed all the limitations as applied to claims 1,4-8,10-15 and 18 above except for alternative mounting, actuation and stop mechanism.

At the time the invention was made; it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to a person of ordinary skill in the art to mount the actuator on the exhaust tube or use a stop lever as a stop mechanism because applicant has not disclosed that such alternatives provide an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art, further, would have expected applicant's invention to perform equally well with an exhaust control valve as shown by Masaki because it provides an apparatus for converting an operating parameter of an engine into a mechanical regulating movement.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claim 9 is allowed over prior art of record.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

11. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
